

SATURDAY, MAY 7. 1743.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Petersbourg, April 24.

ER Imperial Majesty has not hitherto given Audience to the Polish Minister, nor, of late, to M. D'Allion, who resides here from the Court of France, which occasions much Speculation. On the 24th inst. arrived an Express from Finland, with Dispatches from General Romanzoff, upon the Arrival of which a great Council was held, but we know nothing of what passed therein; only we apprehend, that the Swedes continue obstinate, by the embarking Troops for a Descent, and the desiling others towards Finland. Major-General Lacy, eldest Son of the Veldt Marshal, died here late, in the 24th Year of his Age, universally regretted. The Governor of Schlusselbourg has fired all the heavy Artillery, to give Notice, that the grand Canal to Volga is quite free from Ice, and that the Dutch and English Traders may therefore safely embark their Effects, in order to bring them early to the Persian Market.

Stockholm, April 18. Baron Scheffer, who arrived lately from Abo, has brought us News not quite so agreeable as we have lately received; and, upon this, we double our Diligence with respect to military Preparations. According to the last Orders our Plenipotentiaries received, they were forbid to meddle at all with the Succession; and upon giving Notice of this to the Russian Ministers, the following Terms were offer'd, viz. The restoring Eastern Bothnia, the Island of Aland, and the City of Helsingfors, with a District round it. That upon rejecting these Conditions by the Swedish Plenipotentiaries, General Romanzoff had proposed sending an Express to Petersbourg, in order to know the last Resolution of the Czarina; which was agreed to, and M. Grams says to bring the Resolution of that Court. On the 24th Col. Wrede presented a Memorial from Count Tessin, Senator, and Vice-President of the Chancery, by which he desired their Leave to retire from Business, in order to spend the Remainder of his Days in Privacy. He had presented a Memorial of the like Nature, a few Days before, to the Secret Committee, in which he had desired the same Thing; and, at the same time, recommended the Duke de Deux Ponts in the strongest Terms; adding, that he did this without any Views of Interest, since he was resolved to resign all his Employments.

Copenhagen, May 2. The Brewers and Bakers of this City have received Orders to furnish a certain Quantity of Beer and Biscuit, for the Service of the Fleet immediately, and Commissaries are appointed to inspect these Provisions, and to see them distributed throughout the Fleet.

Florence, April 24. The Regency here, by the Orders of the Grand Duke, have acquainted the Elector Palatine's Minister, that they have no Inclination to pay his Electoral Highness the Legacy bequeathed him by the late Electress Palatine; because his Electoral Highness stands indebted to the Grand Duke in a larger Sum. The Regency have likewise dispatch'd a Courier to Madrid, and another to Naples, to carry the Queen of Spain and the King of the Two Sicilies a Copy of the Will of the late Electress Dowager, together with a Compliment from the Great Duke, and an Assurance, that the Regency, in Obedience to his Orders, are ready to discharge the Legacies left their Majesties, to whoever they shall authorize to demand them. Baron Newhoff continues to be sometimes here and sometimes at Leghorn: He changes his Lodgings often, to avoid a Genoese Dagger. In the mean time he dispatches Couriers frequently, and receives not a few; so that the Report of his being entirely abandon'd, is ill founded. The Officer last sent by Admiral Matthews to Naples, had Directions to enquire what was meant by the Motions of the Neapolitan Troops: The Court was at first a good deal incens'd at the Quickness of this Demand, but at last thought fit to answer, that she would observe the Neutrality as long as it was observed towards her; and that the Motion of the Forces was only for the more convenient changing of their Quarters.

D'Aranjuez, April 23. The Court arrived here on the 17th in the Evening, about 9 o'Clock. We talk much of who shall succeed M. de Campello; some say the Prince of Campo Florido, others Don Blas de Jover; M. de Rubiliva is also talk'd of, and M. de Sardinia, Intendant of Catalonia; and M. de Caravajal, Brother to the Duke of Abrantes; but this Morning we are out of all Pain, an Express being dispatch'd to the Marquis de Ensenada, Secretary of State to the Infant Don Philip, to acquaint him, that his Majesty has bestow'd on him all the Employments held by M. de Campello, under whom he was bred. Our last Letters from Cadix inform us, that the English have taken another of our Vessels from Vera Cruz, the Cargo of which was valued at 600,000 Pieces of Eight; but as they neither tell us the Name of the Vessel, nor the Height in which it was taken, we are in hopes there is a Mistake in it.

Prague, May 21. The Archduchess Mary Anne, Daughter to our Queen, arrived here on the 18th; and on the 30th, in the Afternoon, arrived her Majesty, and the Grand Duke. They alighted at a little Distance from the Red Gate, where a Tent was pitched for their Reception; and after reposing themselves there a little while, they made their publick Entry with very great Magnificence, under a triple Discharge of our Artillery. The Prince Royal and Electoral of Poland, the Earl of Hyndford, the King of Great Britain's Minister at Berlin, and several other Persons of Distinction, are expected here to see the Ceremony of the Coronation, which will be on the 12th. The Queen's Birth Day will be kept on the 13th, and on the 14th her Majesty will set out again for Vienna.

Frankfort, May 8. Upon receiving Advices that the French had begun to form a Camp in the Neighbourhood of Heilbron; the Earl of Stair dispatch'd an Express to London for fresh Instructions. In the mean time, the English Troops, as fast as they arrive here, are canton'd on the Rhine towards Mentz, and from thence towards Hanau. They are not at present above 20,000 Men, but the rest are marching to join them with all imaginable Diligence. We are going to throw a Bridge here over the Main, for the Service of those Troops, tho' we are absolutely ignorant of their Destination. In the mean time the French advance apace. Yesterday they seiz'd the City of Worms, and to Day they have taken Possession of Oppenheim; they actually approach'd Zwingenberg, but they found that Place occupied by the Troops of the Landgrave of Hesse Darmstadt. We are however assured, that Marshal Noailles had no Order to act offensively against the Auxiliaries, but barely to hinder them, if possible, from joining the Queen of Hungary's Army; which now appears plainly to be their Design. The Arrival of all these Forces has so excessively alarmed the Inhabitants of the Palatinate, that great Numbers retire daily, and carry away their best Effects. Our Streets are full of English Soldiers, who are permitted, tho' that is a very unusual Mark of Respect; all of them to wear their Swords. They pay for every Thing with ready Money, and behave with so much Decency and Decorum, that hitherto there has not been a single Complaint made. The King of Great Britain's Head Quarters are to be at Freidberg, and those of the Duke of Cumberland at Ketschstadt, not far from Hanau.

Hague, May 13. The Spanish Ambassador had Yesterday a Conference with the President for the Week. His Britannick Majesty has caused it to be notified to their High Mightinesses, the Motives which induce him, not only as King, but as Elector also, to assist the Queen of Hungary with so great a Body of Forces, and with his Resolution to assist her farther in the most efficacious Manner. The Duke of Cumberland is expected here under the Title of Baron Alderney, in Company of Lord Carteret, who comes to execute a Commission of great Importance. [The Remainder of the Memorial drawn up by the Regency of Hanover, for want of Room, will be publish'd in our next.]

The Archduchess Mary Magdalen of Austria, Sister to the late Emperor, and to the Reigning Queen of Portugal, died, after a Week's Sickness, on the 31st of April, N. S. in the 55th Year of her Age.

The Empress Dowager acts as Regent during the Absence of the Queen of Hungary; and Count Konigsegg holds, under her, the Place of Prime Minister.

At the late drawing of the Militia in the City of Paris, a young Man was measured 5 Foot 6 Inches, who addressing himself to M. de Marville, said, Sir, I am a Native of Austria, and a Subject of the Queen of Hungary's: It is no matter for that, Sir, says M. de Marville, you must draw. He drew accordingly, and his Lot was Black; upon which he was carried into a Room to write his Name, and wrote after it, in High Dutch, 'By Birth, and in his Heart, a good Subject to the Queen of Hungary.' They then gave him a Cockade, which he tore in Pieces; upon which he was put under an Arrest.
